

Frequently Asked Questions

Q: A recruiter told me my application has been accepted for pre-screening, but I have not heard back since. Who can I ask for a status update from?

Due to the high volume of applications our recruiters receive each day, we only follow up with applicants regarding status updates after their application passes our pre-screening stage. If you have not heard back from your recruiter after 2 weeks, your application has not been accepted.

Where do interviews take place?

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic all our interviews are currently being conducted remotely via video conferencing. Please communicate with your designated recruiter if you need accommodations at any stage in the recruitment process.

How long is the recruitment process?

The length of each candidate's recruitment process depends on what position they are applying for. Some positions require more screening and testing than others which may take time to organize in a way that fits the schedules of all parties involved. We do our best to expedite the process and your designated recruiter will keep you up to date on which step in the process you're on. Please speak to your designated recruiter for details specific to your application.

I need accommodations, who do I ask?

If you need any accommodations at any stage in the recruitment process, please let your designated recruiter know or reach out to info@miipe.com.

I currently work as a Miipe contractor, can I apply to another position at Miipe?

Due to contract constraints between Miipe and our clients, contractors may not be able to move organically between projects for different clients as a Miipe representative. Please contact info@miipe.ca to learn more as pertains to your particular situation.
